

1. We are looking for a managed IT services company that will increase our return on technology investments by creating and supporting a stable and secure IT infrastructure while delivering proactive and preventive PC, Network, and Server management troubleshooting as well as end-user support to include documentation and planning.

2. We are looking at changing our vending services provider. We currently offer fresh foods, beverages, and coffee services to our employees and would like to continue offering these options.

Would the company you are currently using for either of these services fit this need and would you share their contact information?

FROM ILLINOIS-BASED MEMBERS:

We just switched to Serenity Market which is the open market concept. We are very heavy with seasonal and temp employees and were concerned with loss, but it has been very well received. Food is fresh and options are great! They have an App that you can scan your food and pay with your online account. It's been just over 4 months and so far so good.

I would also be interested in getting info on the managed IT services companies.
